Levó™ Protective Arm Sleeve

Protection With Complete Access
Levó™ Protective Arm Sleeve

The Levó Protective Arm Sleeve is an effective method of protecting the Levó Head Positioning System from fluids during surgery. Applies in seconds and allows full articulation and complete access to component connection points.

- Protects the Levó Arm from fluids during surgical procedures
- Allows full range of motion of Levó
- Contoured design allows full access to component connection points
- Quick and simple application to Levó

Levó Sterile Drape

Also available for Levó is an innovative drape design allowing full visualization and interoperative access of all Levó controls without breaking the sterile field.
